Wehlener Sonnenuhr Riesling Auslese  (White Capsule)

Vineyard Site: This steep 45 hectare south-southwest-facing site features soil composed of stony, grey weathered Devonian slate.

Vinification: The grapes were harvested and stringently sorted by hand. The berries were gently crushed and macerated for several hours on their aroma- and mineral-rich skins. The must fermented slowly and spontaneously at low temperatures so that the wine's multi-faceted fruity aromas could develop perfectly. Subsequently, the wine was carefully matured on its lees for an extended period in cask.

Grape varieties : Riesling

Exposure : South/South-West

Soil : Deep, stony layer of Devon slate

Alcohol : 12.5%

Tasting notes :
Elegant, succulent, finely scented, with ripe acidity and a silky mineral finish.
