

Andriano

Rubeno Lagrein Alto Adige DOC

The Lagrein varietal dates back to the 17th century in this region, thus it is recognized as one of the oldest in the Sud Tyrol area. Lagrein is noted for the deep red color it gives the wine and its unique fruity/spicy flavor profile. The grapes are handpicked and fermented in temperature-controlled stainless steel tanks that also ensure the gentle must movement of the wine. For malolactic fermentation the wine is transferred to large oak casks where the wine rests until bottled.

Grape varieties : Lagrein

Altitude : 250 m ASL

Exposure : Northeast/Southeast

Soil : Red clay soil with gravel and stones

Alcohol : 13.50%

Tasting notes :

This garnet-red wine has hues of violet-purple. The aroma is intense with aromas of berries and violet flowers. In the mouth the wine is silky soft and round with a hint of spice. It is full-bodied with nicely integrated tannins and a persistent elegant finish.

Press Notes

The Washington Post

2022

★★★★

James Suckling

2021, 2018,
2017

91 points

2016, 2015,
2013

92 points

2014

90 points

Wine Enthusiast

2021

90 points

