Founded in 1928 by Luis Angelo Cetto, L.A. Cetto is one of the oldest and largest producers of wine in the Baja California region of Mexico. Luis Angelo was born in Trento, Italy and was eager to continue to make wine when he arrived in the New World, but quickly discovered that he needed to adapt his techniques to a new climate. After years of experimentation and initial bottlings of fortified wine, Luis Angelo found his stride and became well known as a thriving pioneer of this region. In 1963, Luis Angelo retired and his son Augustin took the reins. He modernized the winery with updated equipment and began to focus on exploring the microclimates of the Guadalupe Valley, discovering which varieties grew best in each area. Today Augustin's son, Luis Alberto, who grew up at the winery and literally took his first steps in the vineyard, is the third generation of the Cettos to run the family business. He is an advocate for Mexican wine culture and travels the country to mentor smaller wineries while continuing to stay up to speed with modern winemaking and viticulture innovations at home. Sebastián Suárez has been the winemaker at L.A. Cetto for the past six years and has extensive knowledge and experience in international winemaking. Due to their multiple microclimates, L.A. Cetto makes a wide variety of wines from sparkling wines to aromatic, full-bodied white wines and of course rich, age-worthy reds, including a Private Reserve Nebbiolo, a special homage to the heritage of Don Luis Angelo's birthplace. L.A. Cetto is recognized internationally and its wine have earned over 530 awards obtained in more than 15 countries such as France, Italy, Spain, England, Canada and the United States including the award of 11 double oro!
