Maria Patrizia Niero purchased the 35 hectare estate of Corte Moschina in 1998 but this land has been farmed since the 16th Century. Maria's sons, Alessandro (winemaker) & Giacomo Danese (vineyards), now lead the winery. The estate is in Roncà, a village in the northeastern part of the Soave appellation in Veneto rising into the foothills of the Lessini mountains. The estate began organic conversion in 2016 with their first vineyard being certified in 2020. The remainder of the estate should achieve full certification by 2023.
