INNOVATIVE FOUNDER André Hueston Mack, known for his unconventional path and vibrant personality, brings a fresh perspective to the wine industry. His background as a sommelier at prestigious restaurants and his passion for demystifying wine culture influence the ethos of Maison Noir Wines. In addition to winemaking, Mack is the author of 99 Bottles: A Black Sheep's Guide to Life-Changing Wines and the host of Bon Appétit's "World of Wine", expanding his mission to make wine engaging and accessible for all. DISTINCTIVE BRANDING: The wines feature unique, eye-catching labels that reflect André's personal aesthetic and philosophy, blending street culture with traditional wine culture. ACCESSIBILITY AND APPROACHABILITY: Maison Noir Wines are designed to be both high-quality and accessible, appealing to a diverse and contemporary audience beyond the traditional wine connoisseur. ABOUT ANDRÉ HUESTON MACK AND MAISON NOIR WINES: André Hueston Mack represents a dynamic fusion of passion, expertise, and rebellion in the wine industry. His journey into the world of wine began in the most prestigious corridors of the culinary scene, working as a sommelier at top establishments, including Thomas Keller's famed The French Laundry in California and Per Se in New York. Driven by a desire to challenge the status quo and democratize wine culture, Mack founded MAISON NOIR WINES. His approach to winemaking is heavily influenced by his desire to produce wines that are not only a reflection of their terroir but also accessible and relatable to a broad audience. The distinctiveness of Maison Noir Wines extends beyond just their names and labels; the wines themselves are crafted to showcase the unique characteristics of their vineyard sources in Oregon, emphasizing authenticity and individuality. André's vision for Maison Noir Wines disrupts traditional narratives within the wine industry, marrying quality with inclusivity and flair. "You don't have to wear an ascot to drink my wine. You're an expert in your own taste." - André Hueston Mack
